Having a hard time finding a job

I plan on returning to COTC's police academy when I am twenty. I currently run a financial company that is helping me save up for this at a pretty rapid pace. I feel I was well prepared for the daily challenges and unexpected events that happen in my industry. The education in the legal, financial, and ethical aspects I received was excellent. Well done guys!

My professors were professional and knowledgeable in their field of study. I miss my professor's. I had an experience with a professor that had issues with keeping her liberal political views private. She made it very clear that she strongly dislikes and blames our current sitting president for all of the hostility in our country. I do not think it is appropriate for professors to express where they stand politically. The administration should address professors feeling way to comfortable expressing their liberal views because there are many political views among students and professors should not assume that we are all liberal. If this was a class that involved political viewpoints that I would accept but even then, a professor should restrain. This class had nothing to do with politics it was a team building class.

Tough being an older white male, most discriminated against group in the US today when looking for employment.
